END OF INSTITUTES

Farmers' Institutes for the Winter now Coming to an End.

Farmers' Institutes for the season of 1912-1913 will come to an end with the next ten days and A. L. Martin, the Deputy Secretary of Agriculture, says that he believes the record of attendance of last season will be broken. The open winter has enabled farmers to attend in large numbers and present reports indicate that the figure of 160,000 last winter will be exceeded. In some counties the attendance, thanks to the weather, was 25 and 35 per cent. higher than here-tofore.

MONUMENTS CAN ALL BE RESTORED

Damaged Memorials Can be Restored by Replacing Chips and by Use of Melted Composition of Stone Dust, Wax and Other Material.

That all the monuments on the battlefield damaged in the vandalism of last Tuesday evening can be restored to their original appearance and that none of them will have to be replaced with new monuments is the hope and belief of the National Park Commission and others concerned in the care of the battlefield.

In many instances portions of the memorials were crushed to fine bits and the replacing of these particles of stone will be an impossibility, but modern methods have provided for such an emergency and a composition can be made, even harder than the original stone which will replace the broken parts. This composition is made of wax, dust from the original stone and other materials which are boiled together and attached to the monument. When cooled it has the exact appearance of the original and can be carved to the design of the monument before damaged. This composition will stand weather wear without change for a period of fifty or sixty years. The process is frequently used in the erection of large buildings where big columns are chipped. The government recognizes the method and will accept damaged stones when so repaired.

Many large pieces broken off the monuments have been secured and are in the offices of the National Park Commission. These will be cemented on the shafts from which they were broken with a mixture corresponding exactly to the granite and allowing no difference whatever in shading or appearance.

Think Reward too Small

The reward of $100 which the Commission has been authorized to offer for information regarding the vandal is thought here to be entirely too small to bring the quick apprehension of the guilty party and that the same is the feeling elsewhere is shown in the following from Saturday's Harrisburg Star-Independent.

"In legislative circles this morning, especially among those members of the House who remained over here and did not go home for the week end, there was much discussion over the stories of vandalism that come from Gettysburg battlefield. The smashing of valuable and beautiful monuments this week by some villain has made the people of the State exceedingly angry and anxious to get the perpetrators of the villainy, to the end that they may be punished, and from what was said to-day it is likely that a resolution will be offered in the House on Monday night authorizing the Governor to offer a reward for the apprehension and punishment of the dastard who mutilated the handsome monuments on the battlefield. The old soldiers in the House are especially incensed, and say they apprehend no difficulty in securing the passage of such a resolution, as they are convinced that the offer of a sufficient reward will stimulate the detectives in their efforts to catch the vandals."

Crowds Visit the Monuments

Sunday saw hundreds of people on the battlefield, visiting the sections where the monuments were desecrated. The people of the town and surrounding county in large numbers journeyed out along the avenues and viewed the damaged memorials while people from considerable distance also took Sunday for a trip here. The matter has been given the greatest publicity in city newspapers and the whole country seems to be aroused over the affair.

That the town of Gettysburg was to get the blame, at the hands of ignorant parties, was to be expected and reports have reached this office of persons in other parts of the state making statements similar to these, "What kind of citizens does Gettysburg have, any way"; "If that's the kind of people the town has, I wonder if it's safe to go there". Needless to say the town is blamed for the affair only by the most ignorant and illiterate, and the people generally are as anxious as the authorities for the apprehension of the guilty man.

Since the affair occurred, suggestions have been numerous for the future care of the battlefield, many seeming to think that the present guard is not sufficient to prevent a recurrence of the trouble and the suggestion has even been made that a company of cavalry, stationed somewhere else, could very readily be moved to Gettysburg for permanent patrol service on the avenues.

WILL COMPLETE THE CYCLORAMA

Owner of Battle Picture Meets Local Citizens and Decides to Hurry to Completion Large Building on Cemetery Hill.

That the building to house the Gettysburg Battle Picture—more generally known as the cyclorama—will be completed May first was confidently promised Saturday afternoon at a meeting of H. J. Hahne, of Newark, owner of the picture, with representatives of the local Board of Trade at Hotel Gettysburg.

Mr. Hahne, values the painting, recognized as the most famous battle picture in the world, at $200,000 and has leased it for an indefinite period to the company which has in charge the erection of the building on East Cemetery Hill. This company has been formed in New Jersey with a capital of $25,000.

Work at the building has been going along rapidly for some weeks and the heavy steel framework is now all in position showing clearly the general outlines of the structure. The masons for the brick work are expected today and no time will be lost. The building will have a concrete floor and the sky light will be thirty-five feet in diameter. The battle picture is to blend gradually into a light blue canvas which will terminate at the skylight in such a manner as to make the whole upper effect appear as natural sky.

The building is to be ready for use for the state convention of Odd Fellows here in May and will be equipped at the time with a temporary stage and movable chairs. It is probable that the picture will not be hung until after this convention but it will be in position before the battle anniversary celebration. A nominal fee of twenty-five cents is to be charged for admission and T. T. Fryer, of Newark, who has moved to Gettysburg will be the custodian and will explain the painting to all who wish such explanation.

It was Mr. Fryer who discovered the picture after a fire in Boston which destroyed the building where the painting had been housed. He called Mr. Hahne's attention to it when he learned that French capitalists were planning to buy it. Mr. Hahne believed it to be his patriotic duty to save the remarkable picture, almost 360 feet in length, for this country, and made the purchase. Later he exhibited it in a large rotunda in his Newark store and from there it was taken to the Pension Office but so numerous were the visitors that it was necessary to take the picture out in order to prevent the crowds from hindering the work of that department. It was also displayed in New York and Baltimore.

Several of the men who were originally connected with the company and have since been dropped told the story that it was their desire to have the government buy the picture. Mr. Hahne does not hold that view of the matter and has leased the present site for a period of ten years. The building will be attractive in design and the cyclorama a valuable addition to Gettysburg's other attractions.

SPRING WEATHER

Weather Bureau Predicts Mild Temperature Throughout Country.

Spring-time weather, with fair skies and normal temperatures, is promised for the week to all sections of the country by the Weather Bureau.

"The distribution of pressure over the northern hemisphere," says the bureau's weekly bulletin, "is such as to indicate that the temperature during the current week will average near the normal over practically all parts of the country. Precipitation during the week will be generally light and local. It is not probable that any general storm will cross the country during the week."

WHITE HALL

White Hall—Mrs. Charles Noel and children Glen, Evelyn and Marie, left Sunday for a week's visit to Mrs. Noel's sister, Mrs. Ferry, at Cly. They were accompanied by Mr. Noel, who returned home on Monday.

Quite a lot of families in this neighborhood are getting ready for moving day.

A party was held at Harry Senft's Saturday night, in honor of the young folks. The evening was spent in playing games, singing, etc. About thirty persons were present and the evening was enjoyed by all.

William Weikert had two spells similar to vertigo last week, one at Lawyer's sale and the other on the road home. He is improved at this writing.

MAY CONSOLIDATE SEVERAL SCHOOLS

Menallen Township May Have Several Rural Schools in One Large Building. Would Transport Pupils Living Far Away.

The 108th regular meeting of the Fruit Growers Association of Adams County was held in Fruit Growers' Hall, Bendersville, on Saturday afternoon. The subject of public school education with special reference to the consolidation or centralization of rural school was presented by Prof. James G. Pentz, of the State Department of Public Instruction, and County Superintendent H. Milton Roth. The matter has particular local interest in the fact that the school directors of Menallen township are confronted with the alternative of building a central school to replace six single room schools or building one 2-room and at least two single room houses in the next year or two.

Both speakers went very thoroughly into the question, bringing out the fact that, where local conditions such as roads, density of population and shape of the district would permit of consolidation, many advantages could be secured in this way. The general statement was made—based on reported experiences in other states, as well as several counties in our own state—that four teachers in a 4-room building can successfully replace six or seven, each in a separate school house.

Obviously the cost of heat, care of building and so on would be much less in a single building, and the result as to heat, ventilation and sanitation would be much more satisfactory. The difference in the cost has been found more than sufficient to pay for providing wagons and drivers to convey the children to the central school.

The advantages to the pupils in a well graded central school over the single room school house, with all grades taught by one teacher, are too well recognized to need much comment. Quite plainly it is not possible for any teacher to hear twenty-five or more each day—covering all grades—and give any individual attention to the student.

All these points were clearly shown by the two speakers and the question will be given the most careful consideration both by the school directors and the other residents of Menallen township.

ESCAPED AT GETTYSBURG

Eluded Confederates at Gettysburg and Joined Union Forces.

Thomas Bailey, a respected citizen and civil war veteran of Walnut Bottom, Cumberland County, was 95 years old Sunday, March 9, 1913. He was born in Rockingham County, North Carolina. When the clash of arms took place between the North and the South Mr. Bailey did not enlist in the Confederate army, but was pressed into their service. He was furnished a horse and acted as orderly and such other duties as they demanded of him, and was in their service for about two years, when at the battle of Gettysburg, he succeeded in eluding them and made his escape to the Cumberland County side of the hills, and located at Cleaversburg. In a short time he enlisted under the Stars and Stripes, and became a member of Co. D, 143 Pa., Volunteers, and served until the close of the civil war conflicts, doing valiant service with the Army of the Potomac, and Mr. Bailey says he went through it all without a "scratch". It is Mr. Bailey's desire to round out a century of living. His grandfather died at the age of 115. Mr. Bailey is remarkably well preserved for one of his years and is quite active. He lives with a daughter and granddaughter, his wife having died some time ago.

KILLED MAKING A RAID

Police Chief Shot Through Heart at Disorderly House.

Monessen, Pa., March 10.—Acting Chief of Police George Ettinger was shot dead at the door of a disorderly house which he and three other officers were raiding. Police, state troopers and detectives are searching for Mosh Hough, a former policeman of Belvidere, who is believed to be hiding in an abandoned coal mine. A warrant has been sworn out for Hough's arrest on a charge of pandering, it being alleged that his sixteen-year-old daughter was being kept in the resort where the murder occurred.

Ettinger after stationing his men around the house conducted by "Mother" Dudgeon, knocked at the rear door. The door suddenly was thrown open and a bullet was fired into the chief's heart. The slayer escaped by the front door, the officers on guard there having run to the rear on hearing the shot. "Mother" Dudgeon and two inmates of the resort were arrested.

POPE MUCH BETTER; RECEIVES CALLERS

Hopes Soon to Resume His Regular Duties.

Rome, March 10.—A marked improvement was noted in the condition of Pope Pius X., both the inflammation of the throat and the hoarseness being considerably diminished.

The pope himself said he felt much relieved and hoped that his "tyrants" would allow him to resume at an early date the ordinary course of life. The attending physicians, however, insist that the continue to rest.

The pope passed a tranquil night. Dr. Amici, who remained in an adjacent room, did not need to give his personal services to the patient until morning. The pope then received the papal secretary of state, Cardinal Merry del Val, and afterwards his sisters and nieces, who remained with him for more than half an hour.

Dr. Marchisavi, in describing the condition of his holiness, said that there were no symptoms of gout, from which the pope has been a frequent sufferer, but that he is afflicted at the present time by a simple bronchial affection somewhat diffuse, but without any alarming character.

He declared that there was nothing of an alarming nature whatever in the pope's indisposition, which might pass unnoticed, except for the advanced age of the pontiff.

Indian Chief Gets Old Gun.

Washington, March 10.—Chief Hollow Horn Bear, an Ogalala Sioux, a powerful, bronzed giant six feet three inches, who gave up his gun twenty years ago, when the government ordered all guns taken from the Indians in the Bad Lands, had it returned to him in the office of Acting Commissioner of Indian Affairs Abbott. Hollow Horn Bear recognized his weapon by a rawhide wrapping on the barrel.

HIS FIRST SUNDAY IN WHITE HOUSE

President Attends Church and Goes Automobiling.

CHURCHMEN ARE ANXIOUS

Presbyterian Congregations in Washington Await Mr. Wilson's Final Choice of a Church Home.

Washington, March 10.—Woodrow Wilson spent his first Sunday in the White House. The new president and his family observed the Sabbath day quietly, attending church in the morning and going for an automobile ride in the country in the afternoon. After dinner the president spent the evening with his family, retiring early, in accordance with his custom.

It was the general expectation that President Wilson would make it known at which church he would worship during his residence in Washington. Many presidents have attended the New York Avenue Presbyterian church, a stone's throw from the White House, and a multitude waited in vain before that edifice for the presidential party. Anxious to avoid the crowds, the president, Mrs. Wilson and Miss Eleanor Wilson changed their plans at the last moment and went to the Central Presbyterian church, located a mile or so from the White House.

The pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. James T. Taylor, was as much surprised as anybody when the Wilsons were ushered to a pew. He had not been advised of the honor which the president was to pay his church. He didn't refer to the executive's presence in his sermon, which was exactly what Mr. Wilson desired. Dr. Taylor said that President Wilson had not intimated to him that he would attend the Central Presbyterian regularly. After the services the Wilsons returned directly to the White House.

With the final choice of a church home by President Wilson deferred, Presbyterian churchmen in Washington are still in anxious frame of mind. The desirability of including among the worshippers of a Washington church the president of the United States and his family possesses something more than the pride of ownership. The material increment to a congregation from this connection is vast.

The churches of the national capital which have numbered presidents among their regular worshippers have without exception gained thereby permanent standing and substantial financial foundation.

The power of the president in carrying with him prosperity to a church was never more clearly exemplified than when President Taft took office. The Unitarian church in Washington, All Souls, always had been a conservative congregation. The Unitarians had never had but one president before Mr. Taft, and that was Millard Fillmore, who served less than three years.

All Souls church was a comparatively wealthy congregation and the church had always been on a firm financial basis, but the edifice was old and but moderately attractive. No sooner had President Taft joined the congregation, however, than the usual boom started. A huge building fund was gathered about two years ago, and one of the last acts of Mr. Taft's career as president was his participation in laying the cornerstone of the new All Souls church in the fashionable heart of Washington for an edifice which will cost when completed more than $250,000.

Vice President and Mrs. Marshall passed unrecognized through the throngs gathered outside the New York Avenue Presbyterian church. Only a few people on the sidewalk recognized them.

Secretary of State and Mrs. Bryan and Secretary of Labor Wilson attended the First Presbyterian church. Secretary of the Navy Daniels attended the Mount Vernon Place Methodist church.

WILSON BARS LIQUOR

No Intoxicants to Be Served at Entertainments in White House.

Washington, March 10.—The edict has gone forth that the Wilson-Marshall administration shall be a "white ribbon" affair, with no wines or liquors served at any entertainment.

Not only do the President and Mrs. Wilson and their daughters taboo the sparkling cup, but so also do the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, the Secretary of State and Mrs. Bryan and nearly the entire cabinet.

When the Secretary of State and Mrs. Bryan had the British ambassador as a luncheon guest several days ago, Mrs. Bryan announced that neither she nor Mr. Bryan drank wines and she knew Mr. Bryce did not.

Many Potatoes Stored.

Kempton, Pa., March 10.—Farmers who formerly got 60 cents a bushel for potatoes are now selling them in the Berks-Lehigh potato belt at 50 cents a bushel, and close to 100,000 bushels are stored in cellars.

Her Eighteenth Child Born.

Stillwater, Okla., March 10.—A son born to Mrs. George Mitchell was her eighteenth child. Sixteen of the children are living. Mr. Mitchell is a farmer near Stillwater.

Fined $5000 For Rebating.

Savannah, Ga., March 10.—The jury in the United States circuit court that has been trying the case of L. F. Miller & Sons, of Philadelphia, upon a charge of shipping grain at an illegal freight rate, found Henry C. Miller guilty of shipping grain over the Seaboard Air line at a rate below the published tariff and he was fined $5000 and costs. Morris F. Miller was acquitted.

FIRST BATTLE IN NEW REVOLT

Rebels Beaten Back by Mexican Forces.

GREATER FIGHT IN NEAR

Administration Alleges Ex-President Madero Ordered Guns Turned Upon American Marines If They Attempted to Land.

Mexico City, March 10.—The first serious clash between federalists and Carranzistas is reported to have occurred at Reata, in the state of Coahuila, about midway between Monterrey and Monclova.

The engagement lasted four hours, the rebels offering stubborn resistance to the federals. The losses, as reported from government sources, included twenty-six federalists killed and eleven wounded and thirty-three rebels killed. The rebel forces have fallen back on Baján, thirty miles to the north.

Another engagement is looked for soon, as three columns of the regular army and 2000 adherents of Pascual Orozco are closing in on Venustiano Carranza, the rebel governor of Coahuila. A decisive battle is expected near Monclova, unless Carranza manages to escape over the border.

In order to prevent clashes between rebels and the American troops, the war department proposes to send 6000 federalists to occupy the border towns in Sonora. To this end it is probable that the government will ask the administration at Washington to permit the passage of troops through American territory.

Dr. Rafael Cepeda, former governor of the state of San Luis Potosí, was officially accused by the government of looting the bank of the city of San Luis Potosí of 10,000 pesos, and also of disposing of government property for the purpose of raising funds for the revolution. The administration declares that Cepeda is acting in connivance with Carranza.

The rebel forces commanded by Francisco Pacheco, Fabrian Padilla and Gregorio Pulido, three Zapata leaders, threatened to resume their old tactics because one of their peace messengers had been arrested. They had advised the government of their desire to surrender and had sent envoys to enter into negotiations.

One of the envoys was taken into custody by Luis Lascurain, prefect of Xochimilco, in the federal district, who was suspicious of the messenger's mission. The federal authorities ordered the prefect to release the messenger and to make efforts to atone for his act and to placate the Zapata followers.

A plan is afoot to reorganize the army, increasing its strength to 100,000 men, and it is also proposed to place an order for 150 cannon in France.

It was announced that Provisional President Huerta is considering the advisability of making public the official correspondence of the closing days of the Madero administration, with the object of showing that the late president made strenuous efforts to incite anti-American sentiment throughout the republic.

Among the alleged orders given by Madero during the last week of his rule is one which directed the officers of the Mexican gunboats lying in the port of Vera Cruz to "fire immediately upon the American marines if an attempt is made to land forces" from the United States war vessels, "paying no regard to the expressed purpose of the American naval commanders merely to protect foreigners."

The execution of such an order would have meant the suicide of the Mexican naval forces, as a single shell from the battleship Georgia, then lying only 300 yards distant, would have been sufficient to destroy the Mexican gunboats.

WHISKY SOON KILLS CHILD

Little One Finds Half a Pint and Drinks It All.

Wilmington, Del., March 10.—Elizabeth Kelley, the six-year-old daughter of John Kelley, of Mount Cuba, died from the effect of drinking half a pint of whisky.

The child found the liquor in a bottle lying on a bureau and swallowed all of it at one time. When her mother found her she was unconscious, and the empty bottle beside her told the cause of the child's illness.

Dr. John Ball worked over the child for several hours and finally revived her, but later she collapsed and expired. Coroner Spring is making an investigation of the case.

Kills Self Before Family.

Hazleton, Pa., March 10.—Andrew Butcher, constable of Banks township and prominent in Carbon county politics, committed suicide in the presence of his wife and four children at his home at Parkview by shooting through the brain. No cause is assigned for the deed, which occurred at the close of a day's neighborly celebration at the Butcher residence.

Father and Son Drowned.

Waterbury, Conn., March 10.—August Schultz, forty-one years old, and his son, Fred, twenty-two years old, single, lost their lives in sixteen feet of water while crossing the ice of Pequabuck pond, Terryville, and Fred Schwann, aged fifty, had a narrow escape, but was finally gotten out by a relief party.

Poison in Preserved Fish.

Girardville, Pa., March 10.—John Huffey, his wife, son and daughter, of this place, ate heartily of preserved fish for supper, and all four were taken violently ill. The physician diagnosed the cases as pomarine poisoning.

BUILD CHURCH FOR NEW SECT

Congregation Has Five Members, But Revival Will Be Started.

Topton, Pa., March 10.—Ephraim Steffy, who until recently was a member of another church, joined the Church of God, and this denomination having no church here, he decided to erect an edifice, which was dedicated Sunday.

The erection of the church, with the furnishings, cost Steffy $2500. There are five members, Mr. and Mrs. Steffy, their daughter Maggie and her husband, Preston Richard and Charles Reppert. A revival will start this week to increase the membership.

The dedicatory services were in charge of Rev. B. E. M. Fah, of Allentown, and Rev. J. M. Fah, of Allentown. The church is 30 by 166 feet in dimensions and will seat 125 persons.

PENSION WARLESS COLONEL

Born After Rebellion Began, But Son of a Veteran.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 10.—Although the only fighting he has ever done was in political campaigns, "Colonel" John Rosenberger, of Kittanning township, near here, was granted a pension of $12 a month by the government.

The "colonel" was born in 1862, and is only forty inches tall. The pension was granted him on the ground that he is the son of a deceased veteran and is unable to earn a living by manual labor.

AUTO AND CYCLE

CRASH, ONE KILLED

Running in Opposite Directions,

Meet Head On.

Frederick, Md., March 10.—Running in opposite directions, an automobile driven by J. H. Bean, of Washington, collided with the motorcycle of John L. Zimmerman at Feagaville, a few miles west of this city.

Zimmerman was injured to such an extent that he died thirty minutes later as he was being taken into the Frederick City hospital.

The automobile was climbing a large hill at Feagaville at low speed, and as it neared the top Bean noticed the motorcycle coming toward him at high speed on the same side of the road.

Apparently Zimmerman was confused, for the motorcycle struck the automobile square in the center of the radiator, pitching Zimmerman clear of the car and landing him in the arms of Bean.

It is thought that Zimmerman was confused, for when Bean first caught sight of him he was riding with head down between the handlebars, and on catching sight of the automobile he seemed undecided in which direction to go. The rate at which the motorcycle was traveling prohibited delay, and before Zimmerman turned either to the right or left he struck the automobile head on. Bean was held under $1000 bail for a hearing.

NEGROES' HOME BURNED

Think Whites Who Objected to Colored Neighbor Fired Building.

Laurel, Md., March 10.—Believed to have been set on fire by neighbors who did not want it in their midst, an old mattress factory was destroyed by the flames.

The building was of frame, recently purchased by a Laurel man, who had it moved to another section of the town and was fitting it up as a living place for negroes. Carpenters and plasterers had just begun to alter the building.

There was much comment by white people concerning the location of the building on the site it occupied, and Laurel residents are convinced that some one living in the neighborhood deliberately put a match to the structure.

RUSH FOR CHARITY HATS

Merchants Give Salvation Army Collectors Wrong Styles in Boxes.

Altoona, Pa., March 10.—For a little while business was exceedingly brisk at the Salvation Army's store in this city.

Everybody seemed to take kindly to the "bargains in hats." The rush was so great that it excited suspicion, and an investigation was made.

It was discovered that army collectors in making their rounds had been given a box of the latest spring styles in headgear by a prominent merchant instead of some that had gone out of date, as he intended.

The sale was stopped and the 1913 models were returned; but when the substitutes were placed on the market they did not seem to sell.

"Hungry Bill" Best Pie Eater.

Mohnton, Pa., March 10.—"Hungry Bill," of Reading, champion pie eater of Berks county, has won another championship here, where he ate a blackberry pie ten inches in diameter in two minutes, against six competitors.

WILSON SILENT ON TARIFF VIEWS

House Leaders Embarrassed on Legislative Program.

ARE WORKING IN THE DARK

Without a Suggestion to Guide Them

They Are Going Ahead With Plans

Arranged Some Time Ago.

Washington, March 10.—President Wilson's silence on his legislative program and his failure to make known what he will recommend or approve is becoming oppressive to the Democratic legislators at the capital.

Without a suggestion to guide them, the leaders are going ahead with the plans that were arranged last spring and before there was an election and a change of administration.

Friends of President Wilson, explaining the failure of the new executive to make definite recommendations in his inaugural address, give it out that President Wilson will make known his legislative wishes and announce his political policies from time to time as he deems the necessity of the occasion shall demand. The legislative branch of the government is to proceed with its work along lines that it may decide without interference.

When something goes wrong, in the judgment of President Wilson, he will make known his objection and submit his suggestions.

His Democratic leaders do not look with approval on this plan. They think that it threatens the house organization with all kinds of difficulties. Legislation in the house committees is a matter of compromise. Those who may be in charge and directing the framing of a bill never get all that they are after. They must yield to the views of other members of the committee, whether they be radical or conservative. The same condition as to legislation prevails in the house after a measure has been brought from a committee.

Two complaints against the silence of President Wilson on important legislative issues are most pronounced on the part of the house leaders. One is with reference to the impending tariff legislation and the other with reference to reforms in the monetary system.

Both of these issues were touched on by the president in his inaugural address, but with respect to neither did he suggest in detail any policy of legislation or any line to be followed by the legislators in the framing of the new legislation. Many Democratic members of the house and senate have called on the president since his inauguration, but he has not given them so far as can be learned any definite idea of the character of tariff downward revision or of changes in the money laws that he will approve of that he desires.

Chairman Underwood, of the ways and means committee, is going ahead with the preparation of a new tariff law, trusting that the labors of the committee and the deliberations of the house and senate, with their accompanying results, may meet with the approval of President Wilson.

Chairman Carter Glass, of the banking and currency committee, has been able to get from President Wilson an approval of monetary legislation at the approaching session of congress. Without some definite declaration from President Wilson that he wants this legislation to go hand in hand with the tariff legislation, the house leaders will not take up financial legislation at the special session, but permit it to rest until the general session, which begins next December.

ACCUSE HER OF BLACKMAIL

Prominent Young Woman Faces Letters That Demanded Money.

Williamsport, Pa., March 10.—Waiting a hearing, Miss Re Euna Swartz, a church worker of Hughesville, gave bail for her appearance at the June term of court on a charge of writing anonymous letters to residents of the little town.

For more than a year people have been receiving letters demanding money and making threats. Members of the Swartz family have also received them. Detectives have been at work on the case for some time, and information have been made by state constables against two other members of the Swartz family.

Loan Sharks Use An Auto Service.

Washington, March 10.—Loan sharks driven out of the national capital by a drastic law passed by the last congress have established offices at the Virginia end of the long bridge. They have organized a free automobile service for intending borrowers.
